CalHFA - First State Housing Agency to Implement ProLinkCMO™

June 2, 2005

Sacramento, CA - California Housing Finance Agency (CalHFA) has awarded Analytic Solutions.com, Inc. (Analytic) the contract to implement a new loan origination, underwriting and database management system in its Request for Proposal (RFP) for a Multifamily Loan Origination System. This new system will aid CalHFA by providing a flexible, extensible environment for managing the processes and tracking tasks involved in loan origination; to provide a framework for all parties involved in the loan to share data electronically; and to provide origination data to its enterprise-wide data repository for asset management.

Analytic has a sterling track record of delivering on time, within budget and beyond expectations for clients such as GMAC Commercial Mortgage, John Hancock Life, Collateral Mortgage Capital, McCracken Financial Systems, and many others. CalHFA is pleased to join those benefiting from Analytics cutting edge technology. Deborah Starbuck, CalHFA's Chief Underwriter, announced "that we are delighted to be the first State Housing Agency to implement ProLinkCMO™".

CalHFA is excited to integrate ProLinkCMO™ to leverage its existing financial models, spreadsheets, loan documents and data—and the intellectual capital contained there-in with an automated, integrated and web-enabled process management solution. Analytic Solutions' president, Shawn McKenna explains "In this way CalHFA can continue to use the tools that they know and trust, and our solutions are designed accordingly." This approach accelerates the learning curve and enhances user adoption, which are critical to the project's success.
